

OVERVIEW

The foundation of David A. Nice Builders is people. Starting with our strong family roots, the company has maintained a hands-on, personal connection in every aspect of the business. We take tremendous pride in establishing lasting relationships with our clients, employees, subcontractors and vendors. Our uncompromising commitment to service is the secret to our success.

Along with our personal attention comes years of expertise. What started as a notable, award-winning home builder has grown into a national construction company comprised of four divisions.

“Whether we’re building a small local shop, a 15,000-square-foot, experiential retail space or a commercial building, it’s still about trust, confidence and delivering what you say you will.” – David A. Nice, Owner
